Independent vs. Collaborative Preferences

- Can you describe a work experience where you were able to thrive? Did it involve working more independently, collaboratively, or a mix of both?
- How do you approach tasks that require independent work and team collaboration? Can you share an example of a time when you had to balance these two aspects?
- What do you find most rewarding about working independently? What do you find most rewarding about working as part of a team?
- Can you share an experience where you had to shift from working independently to collaborating with a team or vice versa? How did you handle that transition?
- In your previous roles, how did you balance your need for autonomy with the need to be part of a team?
- How do you feel about receiving feedback on your work when working independently versus being part of a team?
- Describe a project where you had the opportunity to either lead a team or work independently. How did you approach the situation, and what was the outcome?
- What do you believe are the advantages and disadvantages of working independently? How about working collaboratively?
